Housing numbers

For help with housing maintenance, repairs, or to arrange to terminate residency in post housing, call the toll-free number for North Haven at (866) 370-9623 and follow the prompts.

Housing residents who need additional assistance, or are concerned about the housing privatization process may call the Residential Communities Initiative and Housing Division at 361-4535.

To visit North Haven's neighborhood offices go to 1405 Chestnut Street, Unit 4, which serves North Town, Chena Bend, Siku Basin and Denali Village. The office at 4183 Sixth Street, Unit 6, serves the Southern Cross, Gertsch Heights, Northern Lights, Bear Paw and Taku Gardens neighborhoods.

Motorcycle safety

The safety office will offer Motorcycle Safety Training courses start in May, conditions permitting. Successful completion of the course is required to register and ride a motorcycle on post. Soldiers must take the course to ride on or off post.

A waiting list for the classes will open Wednesday.

Contact the Garrison Safety Office at 353-7079 for more information.

Construction alert

Work is scheduled to begin this week on a new facility for care of school-age children. The site is near Arctic Light Elementary School.

Approximately 86 steel piles will be mechanically driven into the soil to form the building's foundation. The pile driving will take place from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for approximately eight weeks. People living and working in the area may hear the noise of the

Operation Touchdown scores at Wainwright

Clockwise from top left: Keith Davis, former linebacker for the National Football League's New York Giants, delivers the keynote address at Fort Wainwright's prayer luncheon March 17 at the Northern Lights Chapel. Davis spoke about coming back in the "second half," not allowing past mistakes to get in the way of future accomplishments.

Twenty-month-old John McCurry practices passing and receiving a football at Operation Touchdown, a Youth Sports Clinic hosted by the Garrison Chaplain's Office. He is the son of Lt. Col. Mac McCurry of Task Force 49.

Boaz Green, 5, hesitates for a moment before accepting the challenge of the Operation Touchdown trainers. Volunteers from Fort Wainwright and local high schools assisted former pro football player Kevin Davis and his teammates during the youth sports clinic March 18 at the Physical Fitness Center.
