Support for survivors

Army Community Service's Survivor Outreach Services demonstrates the Army's commitment to families of the fallen. The mission of SOS is to provide enhanced services to these families.

SOS is a holistic and multi-agency approach to delivering services to survivors by providing services at the garrisons and communities closest to where families live. SOS will allow the Army to better identify the needs of others touched by the loss of a Soldier.

To speak with someone at SOS or for more information, stop by Building 600, Room A-120 or call 384-0272.

ing a limited number of school, camp and sports physicals during Arctic Warrior Olympics at Paxton Park.

The physicals are offered from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and are available on a first-come, first-served basis. All military dependents 4 through 16 years old are eligible.
