

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN THE PACIFIC REGION TRAINING WORLD?

Like most other businesses in the world today, the CHRA Training Office (Pacific Region) has taken even more information “on line.” We have made a conscientious effort to put training information on the web that is applicable to the variety of the customers we service throughout the region. There is something for almost everyone.

One of the easiest ways to access our training site is by visiting the DA homepage (www.cpol.army.mil). From there simply click onto Links/Regional Hompages/Pacific. Then you will prominently see the Training and Leader Development section. It's just that easy!

Also, of particular interest to supervisory personnel will be our Manager's Toolkit, located on the same homepage menu as Training and Leader Development. This is a simple “point and click” method to find answers to our most commonly asked questions in areas to include interviewing techniques; an “HRD Toolbox” (training coordinators guide; available courses; how to go about scheduling them; delegation of training authority; individual development plans; etc.) and much, much more.

Take a few moments from your busy schedule to browse these features. You may just discover some training benefits and programs you didn't know existed!!!
